many did, when he wanted his Army bill put through, with the exception that Grover did not dare strike Congress, although he expressed the wish. He however exercises more power than the Queen of England. Only yesterday the telegram said he sent his secretary to the Senate, to inform the Senators that they must do his way, though some of the old gentlemen had worn themselves out trying to do his way, and said not.

It is a blessed thing that General Grant was not the sort of man that now occupies the White House. Had he been he could have made himself Emperor.

The trouble at present is that Grover Cleveland differs with the vast majority of the party that elected him, and thinks he is bigger than his party and Congress combined.

Why he gives his orders to Crisp and Voorhis, just as much like a King as a King can be like himself!

This Vicksburg — COMMERCIAL Horai calls the Democratic attempt to disprove the Hardin statement, founded upon the report of some reliable gentleman from Amite county, because one of his witnesses had been murdered and the other was so terrified he could not be induced to testify.

We now ask you to disprove that the District Attorney entered a nolle prosequi in a case of White Capping in Amite County, because one of his witnesses had been murdered and the other was so terrified he could not be induced to testify.

We now ask you to disprove that a public meeting was held in Franklinton on the 9th, and that vigorous measures were taken to suppress this crime, so prevalent that it had to be treated in this way.

We now ask you to disprove that the telegraph in your own pocket on the very day in which you were trying to fire your editorial, to belittle the doings of White Caps.

From the Natchez Democrat, October 16th:

MOB WHITE CAP THREATS.
Tallahassee, Miss., October 14th. — The ginhouse of K. K. Marden, at this place, was burned last night. The notice contained the usual threats that the house and contents would be burned if any more gin was distilled until it reached the sum of 10 cents.

ANTI-OPTION BILL.

We thought Congress was meantime too much power, and that it could be only partially effective. Since that time, we have seen a bold attempt to fill the most important legislative factually defined in futures, to the great injury of agriculture. Very often with commissions cotton or other agricultural products for sale, they find buyers, that is people who call themselves buyers, up to their elbows in future deals with their eyes riveted on the future quotations.

It will be a great day for the whole country, when Uncle Sam kicks out the entire gang.

ANIMAL FERTILIZER.

The Body Produces Electricity for the Plant.

Foster's Weather Bureau.

A dead animal of any kind, fish, fowl or beast, buried near the root of a fruit or other tree will cause a wonderful increase in that particular plant, because, it seems, that the electric current passes from the atmosphere to the earth, and a larger quantity of support is drawn from the atmosphere. You can grow a good crop of potatoes on a brick pavement if moisture is retained, and the potato vines are connected with moist earth by copper wires.

Commercial fertilizers do not enrich the soil, or anything to that effect is of no value. The object sought in these fertilizers is to put the soil in a condition that will enable it to conduct electricity. The electrical current passes into the vegetable through its leaves, carrying with it gross matter that goes to build up the vegetable cells, and after the matter disposed in the vegetable, the electric current must have a conductor through which to pass to the earth. A word or the conductor, and the acid used in the commercial fertilizers, which are little more than acids and sand, pulverize the dead animal, and given it for a short time. Those acid fertilizers are largely used in the New England States, and in the cotton counties east of the Mississippi.

But few people in the Upper Mississippi and Missouri Valleys ever use a commercial fertilizer. If science can find something that will work out a good conductor, it will save millions of dollars annually that is now paid out for commercial fertilizers.
